Highlights	Investment Rationale/Risk
► Marks & Spencer [MKS] released a trading update covering the first 19 weeks of FY24 (Mar.) up to August 12. MKS saw continued market share growth in both Clothing & Home and Food. Like-for-Like (LFL) sales growth came in as a positive to us, up 11% LFL and 6% LFL for Clothing & Home, and Food, respectively. Recall that in its FY23 results, MKS reported sales growth of 9.9%, driven by Clothing & Home [+11.5%], Food [+8.7%], and International [+12.6%]. The sustained growth momentum reflects MKS' attractive value proposition amid continued price investment, in our view. ► As part of its mid-term objectives, MKS targets adjusted operating margin (AOM) to c.4% and c.10% for Food, and Home & Clothing, respectively. Recall that FY23 AOM at 5.2% is behind FY22 at 6.5% as muted pricing activity was insufficient to offset sourcing and freight costs. In its trading update, MKS indicated "significant improvement against previous expectations [moderate revenue growth]", which we attribute to the group's positive progress towards its strategy, and relatively robust retail consumer spending. ► We raise our FY24 EPS to GBP0.20 [from GBP0.16] and FY25 to GBP0.23 [from GBP0.19].	► Our call is raised a notch to 4-STARS [Buy]. MKS remains a quality retailer with strong heritage and brand value, in our view. We think its attractive portfolio of staples (Food) and discretionary (Clothing & Home) segments presents an opportunity for a stable and attractive return potential similar to a barbell position. Although Food may constitute a larger part of overall revenue (c.60%), fashion (Clothing & Home) remains to be the major key growth driver for MKS, in our opinion. While near-term profitability may be impeded by the need for further investment into its omni-channel shopping experience, we still see robust wage growth and alleviating cost pressures to provide some headroom. We also expect to see further productivity benefits from its acquisition of Gist in 2022. ► Main downside risks to our recommendation and/or target price include failed or delayed store rotation program, drastic shift in stylistic preference away from MKS, and elevated price competition in food retail. ► Our 12-month target price for MKS at GBP2.50 is based on FY24 P/E of 12.5x, which is a slight premium against its historical average of 11.0x, justified in our opinion by its improving outlook and strong turnaround.

Analyst's Risk Assessment
LOW	MEDIUM	HIGH

Our Medium risk assessment reflects clothes being an emotional purchase and fickle fashion trends for its Clothing & Home division and the challenging environment for its Food division. This is, however, offset by its positive implementation of turnaround strategy, where we saw improved trading performance. Its JV with Ocado remains a drag on overall group results, but growing use of Ocado Retail's capacity should provide another leg for channel exposure.

Marks and Spencer Group plc

Business Summary Aug 17, 2023

CORPORATE OVERVIEW: Founded in 1884, Marks & Spencer Group PLC (MKS) has grown from a single market stall to an international, multi-channel retailer. It is one of the U.K.'s leading retailers, with 1,470 stores worldwide. The company's international operations consist of MKS-owned businesses in the Republic of Ireland, Europe, and Asia, together with franchised operations. MKS sells food items that historically account for nearly 60% of its turnover, including fresh produce, groceries, partly-prepared meals, and ready meals. As one of the U.K.'s leading retailers, MKS offers its products in womenswear, lingerie, and menswear, as well as kids wear and home businesses (known as Clothing & Home business), serving over 30 million customers through its stores and website, MKS.com. Its principal brands include Autograph, per una, Rosie, Goodmove, and Boutique.

CORPORATE STRATEGY: MKS has a heritage of quality, style, innovation and value for money and was voted the U.K.'s most trusted brand in FY22 (Mar.). At the core of its strategy, MKS will continue to deliver value for money across a wide product range, focusing on high performing growth channels, rationalize the rest, and underpin it with an omnichannel infrastructure to achieve a lower cost base. MKS aims to drive omnichannel growth to increase the participation of Clothing & Home online sales by leveraging its sprawling store network across the U.K. This will be done via an acceleration of store rotation and renewal to create a more productive estate of c.180 full line stores and opening more than 100 new Food stores in strategic locations. Customer experience will be enhanced via the Sparks loyalty program and payment options. Sparks Pay is a fully regulated digital credit account that is fully unique to MKS, offering customers a seamless shopping experience, and also a testbed for MKS to experiment with various loyalty programs. In line with industry trends, MKS also launched its own price investments, in particularly for Food. Alongside its everyday Remarkable ranges, MKS also launched "Price Locks" on over 100 customer favorites to maintain customer retention. In Home & Clothing, MKS launched "Value You Can Trust" to deliver both value and quality. The acquisition of Gist in 2022, the principal contract logistics provider to M&S Food, is part of MKS' plan to modernize its food supply chain.

MARKET PROFILE/REGIONAL FOOTPRINT: As of end-March 2023, it has 1,064 U.K. stores and 406 international stores, with a total employee count of c.72,000. Outside of the U.K., MKS operates mostly via franchises and joint ventures to bring its Clothing & Home collections and Food ranges to international customers. It also has a growing international online business delivered through localized owned and franchise websites and through partnerships with leading marketplaces. In 2019, it formed a Joint Venture with Ocado Retail to improve its online grocery offering, bringing to bear its ~6000 quality product lines combined with Ocado's state-of-the-art highly automated robotic customer fulfillment technology. While the JV is not performing as expected, we are seeing evidence of deeper collaboration and increasing utilization of Ocado Retail's capacity, which should provide another avenue for channel exposure, in our view.

FINANCIAL TRENDS: Previously, MKS has experienced stagnant sales growth across its businesses. More nimble 'fast-fashion' retailers have outgrown MKS, leaving sales across the division declining between 6-8% in 2019 and 2020, with divisional operating profits also suffering as a result. Consequently, the division has seen new management and restructuring to improve its performance. MKS's revenue grew at a 3-year CAGR of 5.4% to FY23 revenue of GBP11.9bln. FY23 saw some evidence of successful turnaround strategy, as Clothing & Home grew sales at a Like-for-Like (LFL) of 11.2%, driven by successful pivot towards modern mainstream customers, with better style perception. Food sales grew 5.4% LFL, driven by continued investment in value. Adjusted operating margin (AOM) for Clothing & Home at 8.7% is seen expanding above FY19/20 levels [+170 bps], reflecting ongoing successful digital analytics and effective sourcing. FY23 AOM for Food at 3.4% is below historical average [-3.9%], reflecting ongoing price investments to maintain price affordability and customer retention. Ocado Retail share of loss increased to GBP29.5mln (from GBP13.9mln in FY22), but is expected to improve following Ocado's renewed focus and deeper collaboration with MKS. While the company had previously announced a halt in paying dividend at the start of the pandemic, MKS is now looking to restore a modest annual dividend in conjunction with the announcement of interim results on November 2023.

Industry Outlook

We have a neutral 12-month fundamental outlook on EMEA Consumer Discretionary (Ex-Automobiles Components). Despite favorable trading results, in part due to the return of Chinese demand, and stronger economic data, we remain cautious over economic headwinds, including the high cost-of-living situation and recessionary risks, and tough growth comparables.

For the Apparel, Accessories, and Luxury Goods subsector, we have a neutral outlook. We believe topline performance peaked in 2022 and expect growth to moderate around the return of China demand, sustainability of pricing momentum, and U.S. local sales. High-end luxury companies with strong brand equity will take center stage this year due to the inelasticity of demand for their products and the growing composition of China sales in their regional portfolio (>30%), in our view. We expect to see operating margins returning to pre-pandemic levels from the supply chain recovery and further economies of scale.

We have a neutral outlook on the Apparel Retail subsector. We expect a mixed performance between competitors due to a shift in consumer preference in 2023 towards "quality-and-price" rather than "value-based on-price", in our view, as consumers begin to tighten their household budget. With expectations of stronger footfall, physical retail is expected to continue to make a return. We think margins will continue to recover as retailers are expected to see further cost savings trickling in from current programs and the absence of one-time costs for the winding up of Russian operations.

We maintain our positive outlook on Casinos and Gaming. The subsector remains a long-term structural play with 2023 expected to be the year of positive EBITDA for U.S. sports betting and e-gaming, particularly in H2. Other regions remain supportive of growth, and we look towards further updates on the progress of legislative agenda in grey markets, particularly Brazil. With the absence of major sporting tournaments this year, we expect to see margins continue to be pressured as marketing spend to support sales remains high.

We are positive on Hotels, Resorts, and Cruise Lines over expectations of a strong operating environment with strong forward bookings and occupancy close to pre-pandemic levels. We expect the return of Chinese travellers, continued momentum in business travel demand, and supportive leisure travel demand to generate mid-to-high single-digit pricing. Though margins may continue to be impacted by the high cost of labor and energy costs, we believe this is contained by full-service hotels with significant exposure to the luxury market.

YTD through September 29, 2023, the S&P Europe 350 Consumer Discretionary Index was up 8.5%, outperforming the broader S&P Europe 350 Index. The robust performance in discretionary and luxury spending such as perfumes and cosmetics has shown resilience even in the face of significant inflation and higher interest rates. Furthermore, we expect that luxury and other high-end goods will continue to shine, particularly among higher-income consumers who maintain consistent spending habits regardless of economic conditions.

Sector valuation remains unattractive as it currently trades at 1-year forward P/E valuation of 11.7x vs. its 5-year average of 10.5x. We find limited upside as we believe this has already priced in stronger investor sentiment for the consumer discretionary sector against a backdrop of recessionary risks and moderating growth from the Covid-19 recovery.

Analyst Research Notes and other Company News

August 16, 2023

04:39 AM ET... CFRA Upgrades Opinion on Shares of Marks & Spender to Buy from Hold [MKS LN 2.29]:

We raise our 12-month target price for Marks & Spencer (MKS) to GBP2.50 (from GBP1.90), implying FY24 (Mar.) P/E of 12.5x, a premium against historical average of 11.0x, justified in our view by its strong turnaround. We revise our EPS to GBP0.20 (from GBP0.16) for FY24 and GBP0.23 (from GBP0.19) for FY25. In an update for the first 19 weeks of FY24 (to August 12), MKS saw continued market share growth in both Clothing & Home and Food. Like-for-Like (LFL) sales growth came in as a positive to us, up 11% LFL and 6% LFL for Clothing & Home and Food, respectively. This paints an optimistic outlook for the U.K. general retail industry outlook, which in our view, was plagued by unfavorable weather conditions in July. MKS did not provide specific guidance but indicated "significant improvement against previous expectations (moderate revenue growth)". We take this opportunity to upgrade MKS to Buy, reflecting our view that retail spending is still robust, despite the lack of positive news flow. / Danny Yeo Sze Wai, CFA

12:46 AM ET... CFRA Upgrades Opinion on Share of Marks & Spencer to Hold from Sell [MKS LN 1.88]:

We revise our 12-month target price for Marks & Spencer (MKS) to GBP1.90 (from GBP1.50) based on FY 25 (Apr.) P/E of 10.1x, above its 5-year average of 8.5x, justified in our view by earnings recovery in the medium term. We revise our FY 24 EPS to GBP0.16 (from GBP0.14) and introduce FY 25 at GBP0.19. MKS reported full-year FY 23 revenue of GBP11.9 bln (+9.6% Y/Y), slightly above the S&P Capital IQ consensus estimate. Food sales outperformed the market in terms of volume and value and rose by 8.7% Y/Y, with sales in core categories up 5.0% and well ahead of pre-Covid levels. Clothing & Home grew by 11.5% Y/Y, with full price sell-through at 88%. EBIT margins came in at 5.3% (-120 bps Y/Y), reflecting investments to support sales and increased operating costs. We believe the market has begun to price in MKS at a fairer level of 9.6x P/E which captures modest topline growth (our estimates at 3.5% in FY 24 and 2.5% in FY 25) and savings from its cost reduction program. Upgrade to a Hold. / Ashman Razak

06:38 AM ET... CFRA Maintains Sell Opinion on Shares of Marks and Spencer Group [MKS LN 1.49]:

We retain our Sell call on Marks and Spencer (MKS) and adjust our target price to GBP1.50 (from GBP1.10), implying an FY 24 (Mar.) P/E of 10.7x, a discount to its 5-year average of 13x, justified in our view by earnings decline amidst difficult trading conditions. We retain our FY23 EPS at GBP0.15 but revise our FY24 EPS estimate to GBP0.14 (from GBP0.17). In its Q3 FY 23 trading statement, MKS reported sales of GBP3.6 bln (+9.9% Y/Y), above S&P Capital IQ estimate of GBP2.5 bln, driven mainly by high-single-digit growth in the U.K. Food grew by 10% Y/Y from volumes during the Christmas period and maintained its leading market share due to investment into the Remarkable Value line. Clothing & Home grew by 8.8% Y/Y, particularly from menswear, formalwear, and partywear with market share at 10%. Though we expect MKS's topline to remain flat despite worsening trading conditions in FY 24, margin pressures from labor and stores competing to generate more value will provide further risk to earnings, in our view. / Ashman Razak

06:36 PM ET... CFRA Maintains Sell Call on Marks and Spencer Group plc [MKS LN 1.20]:

We retain our Sell call on Marks & Spencer (MKS) with a target price of GBP1.10 (from GBP1.35) based on a FY24 (Mar.) P/E of 6.5x, a discount to its 5-year average, justified in our view by flat earnings amidst difficult trading conditions. We retain our FY23 EPS at GBP0.15 and FY24 EPS estimate of GBP0.17. MKS reported 1H FY23 revenue of GBP5.5 bln (+8.5% Y/Y), above S&P Capital IQ estimate of GBP5.4 bln, driven by growth in all segments. Food grew by 5.6% Y/Y due to the recovery of the franchise and hospitality business and higher prices, whilst Clothing & Home rose 14% Y/Y from recovery of store sales and supportive online sales performance. EBIT margin (excl. adjustments) contracted to 5.1% (-200 bps Y/Y) reflecting cost inflation headwinds. The Company believes trading conditions will worsen in FY24. At current P/E valuation of 6.6x, a discount to its 5-year average, we find MKS unattractive given our expectations of flat growth in FY24. / Ashman Razak

06:56 AM ET... CFRA Retains Sell Rating on Shares of Marks and Spencer Group plc [MKS LN 1.35]:

We retain our Sell call on Marks & Spencer (MKS) with a higher GBP1.35 (from GBP1.60) target. MKS's FY22 (Mar.) revenue grew 7.1% above the level in FY20, (FY21 was heavily impacted by the Covid-19 pandemic, thus rendering comparisons less meaningful). The Food business remains the main growth driver, growing 10.1% vs. FY20, while the Clothing & Home business came back strongly post-pandemic, rising 3.8% above the FY20 level. Operating profit (pre-exceptionals) was up 20% vs. FY20 to GBP709m leading to a profit before tax of GBP523m, ahead of its guidance for profit before tax (pre-exceptionals) of GBP500m. Despite strong results in the year, we believe M&S will have a weaker FY23 given the current environment of rising inflation and political instability in the U.K. We retain our FY23 EPS at GBP0.15 and introduce a FY24 EPS estimate of GBP0.17. / Adrian Ng, CFA

07:40 AM ET... CFRA Retains Sell Rating on Shares of Marks & Spencer Group plc [MKS LN 2.37]:

We retain our Sell call on Marks & Spencer (MKS) with a higher GBP1.60 (1.54) target. A strong Christmas period seen at other retailers has also lifted MKS. MKS's 3Q22 (to Jan. 1, 2022) showed total group sales of GBP3.3bn, up +9% vs pre-Covid-19 3Q20. Once again a strong Food performance led the charge (+12%) while Clothing and Home finally saw growth (+3%). While positive growth in Clothing is encouraging, daylight remains between it and NEXT's performance last week (+20%), despite the 3Q being stronger than our forecasts. MKS retained its PBT guidance of "at least GBP500m" despite the stronger topline, which disappointed the market. We lift our 2022 EPS to GBP0.15 (0.14) reflecting the better 3Q, with a PBT estimate of GBP520m pre-exceptionals. Similarly, 2023 moves to GBP0.15 (0.14). Today's share price reaction demonstrates the levels of optimism (unwarranted in our view) that remain priced into the stock. For now, we retain our Sell call ahead of the full-year results in April. / Andrew Tam

07:17 AM ET... CFRA Reiterates Sell Rating on Shares of Marks & Spencer Group plc [MKS LN 2.18]:

We keep our Sell rating on Marks & Spencer (MKS) but with a higher GBP1.54 (1.34) target. A confluence of positives has helped MKS deliver a better 1H22 (Sep '21). Store reopenings, a strong consumer, competitors' exits and some self-help have seen MKS trading recover – a 'sugar hit'. MKS posted 1H22 sales of GBP5.1bn up +5% on pre-pandemic 1H19, driven by strong Food sales (+10%) and a Clothing result that was 'less bad' (-1%). The result was a ~GBP70m beat at the EBIT line, though a majority of this came through temporary rates relief (~50m), a key source of the 1H beat. But these benefits will wane, just as headwinds emerge with a squeezed consumer, reimposition of business rates, and a higher cost outlook. We have been proved wrong so far, but maintain our bearish long-term stance. Our 2021 EPS remains at GBP0.14 with our PBT already largely in line, while we dial back our 2022 EPS to GBP0.14 (0.19) on higher costs. We fear the market is over extrapolating short-term trends and risks being disappointed. / Andrew Tam

Glossary

STARS

Since January 1, 1987, CFRA Equity and Fund Research Services, and its predecessor S&P Capital IQ Equity Research has ranked a universe of U.S. common stocks, ADRs [American Depositary Receipts], and ADSs [American Depositary Shares] based on a given equity's potential for future performance. Similarly, we have ranked Asian and European equities since June 30, 2002. Under proprietary STARS [Stock Appreciation Ranking System], equity analysts rank equities according to their individual forecast of an equity's future total return potential versus the expected total return of a relevant benchmark [e.g., a regional index (MSCI AC Asia Pacific Index, MSCI AC Europe Index or S&P 500® Index)], based on a 12-month time horizon. STARS was designed to help investors looking to put their investment decisions in perspective. Data used to assist in determining the STARS ranking may be the result of the analyst's own models as well as internal proprietary models resulting from dynamic data inputs.

S&P Global Market Intelligence's Quality Ranking

[also known as S&P Capital IQ Earnings & Dividend Rankings] - Growth and S&P Capital IQ Earnings & Dividend Rankings stability of earnings and dividends are deemed key elements in establishing S&P Global Market Intelligence's earnings and dividend rankings for common stocks, which are designed to capsize the nature of this record in a single symbol. It should be noted, however, that the process also takes into consideration certain adjustments and modifications deemed desirable in establishing such rankings. The final score for each stock is measured against a scoring matrix determined by analysis of the scores of a large and representative sample of stocks. The range of scores in the array of this sample has been aligned with the following ladder of rankings:

A+ Highest	B Below Average
A High	B- Lower
A Above	C Lowest

EPS Estimates

CFRA's earnings per share (EPS) estimates reflect analyst projections of future EPS from continuing operations, and generally exclude various items that are viewed as special, non-recurring, or extraordinary. Also, EPS estimates reflect either forecasts of equity analysts; or, the consensus [average] EPS estimate, which are independently compiled by S&P Global Market Intelligence, a data provider to CFRA. Among the items typically excluded from EPS estimates are asset sale gains; impairment, restructuring or merger-related charges; legal and insurance settlements; in process research and development expenses; gains or losses on the extinguishment of debt; the cumulative effect of accounting changes; and earnings related to operations that have been classified by the company as discontinued. The inclusion of some items, such as stock option expense and recurring types of other charges, may vary, and depend on such factors as industry practice, analyst judgment, and the extent to which some types of data is disclosed by companies.

12-Month Target Price

The equity analyst's projection of the market price a given security will command 12 months hence, based on a combination of intrinsic, relative, and private market valuation metrics, including Fair Value.

Qualitative Risk Assessment

Reflects an equity analyst's view of a given company's operational risk, or the risk of a firm's ability to continue as an ongoing concern. The Qualitative Risk Assessment is a relative ranking to the U.S. STARS universe, and should be reflective of risk factors related to a company's operations, as opposed to risk and volatility measures associated with share prices. For an ETF this reflects on a capitalization-weighted basis, the average qualitative risk assessment assigned to holdings of the fund.

Stocks are ranked in accordance with the following ranking methodologies:

STARS Stock Reports:

Qualitative STARS rankings are determined and assigned by equity analysts. For reports containing STARS rankings refer to the Glossary section of the report for detailed methodology and the definition of STARS rankings.

Quantitative Stock Reports:

Quantitative rankings are determined by ranking a universe of common stocks based on 5 measures or model categories: Valuation, Quality, Growth, Street Sentiment, and Price Momentum. In the U.S., a sixth sub-category for Financial Health will also be displayed. Percentile scores are used to compare each company to all other companies in the same universe for each model category. The five [six] model category scores are then weighted and rolled up into a single percentile ranking for that company. For reports containing quantitative rankings refer to the Glossary section seof the report for detailed methodology and the definition of Quantitative rankings.
